

Crispy Fried Chicken spreads its wings to Mercato on Byron

The first Crispy Fried Chicken store to open its doors in New South Wales will be ready to welcome a whole new family of #CrispyFriedChicken fans when the new Mercato on Byron shopping complex is unveiled in April.

Mr. Koya, owner of the Crispy Fried Chicken brand, said it's exciting to be opening his fourth store in a new community.

"We have stores in Southport, Redbank Plains and Brisbane – and we thought it was about time the people of the Northern Rivers area in New South Wales had the opportunity to eat our fresh, handmade fried chicken," said Mr Koya.

"Our menu includes chicken pieces, chicken burgers, fries and salads – with everything made on site, using fresh produce."

"This shopping precinct still feels like Byron, and we wanted to add a taste sensation that the community hasn't had on its doorstep before.

"Our chicken is sourced locally and is never frozen or processed. We use potatoes and vegetables from local growers, and you can tell by the flavour of our menu that we make our food with integrity – yes, even fried chicken can be 5-star!" Mr Koya said.

The new takeaway outlet on level 1 will also have a seated area for in-store dining within the centre. Crispy Fried Chicken will be open from 9am every day.

The menu includes Crispy Combos, Variety Packs, Wraps and Burger Deals.
